

CONG. LONGWORTH HOUSE LEADER BY UNANIMOUS VOTE

Cooper and Madden Will Oppose Gillett for Speaker

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—The Progressive bloc made its first major attack today in its campaign of insurgency against the Republican leadership of the new congress.

In the house, where its numerical strength is greatest, it openly but unsuccessfully opposed endorsement of Speaker Gillett as the Republican candidate for the speakership and announced there were votes enough in sight to block his election unless important concessions in committee assignments and modification of the house rules were made by the party organization.

On the senate side the opposition was of a passive character. When the Republican senators assembled to re-elect Senator Lodge to majority leadership they found that not a single member of the bloc had responded to the party conference call and that Senator Borah also was numbered among the missing.

While the breach in the majority party thus was widening, the Democrats were consolidating their position in the hope of taking whatever advantage may be offered by the situation of their opponents.

Agree on Garrett

House Democratic members met tonight and agreed on Representative Garrett of Tennessee, as the party candidate for speaker, but the meeting was only a formality, since the selection had been agreed upon months ago.

The Democrats of the senate who also have settled all their differences over leadership will hold a brief conference Monday just before the sixty-eighth congress convenes.

Developments of the day indicated no disposition on the part of Republican organization leaders of the house or senate to make concessions to the insurgents. On the contrary house leaders declared they would be a party to no negotiations and were prepared to let the progressives show what strength they could poll on the first ballot for speaker.

While organization leaders in the senate made no pronouncement, they adhered to their original plan of leaving to the opposition the initiation of any senate organization fight. Also Senator Lodge in filling the two vacancies on the committee on committees did not give representation to the Progressive bloc.

Longworth Elected
Longworth, of Ohio, was elected Republican leader of the house without opposition, but two candidates were nominated for speaker against Gillett—Cooper of Wisconsin, a leader of the Progressive bloc, and Madden, of Illinois, chairman of the appropriations committee.

Gillett received 190 votes; Cooper 15, and Madden 5, while one vote was cast for Little of Kansas.

Leaders of the Progressive bloc asserted that when the vote comes for the election of a speaker they will be able not only to hold the fifteen who voted today for Cooper, but will draw enough strength from those supporting Madden to make certain a deadlock.

With eleven Republicans of the total membership of 225 absent today, Republican leaders estimated that at least a half the number would be unable to attend the opening session of the house, thereby making the prompt re-election of Speaker Gillett still more doubtful.

LIEUT. COMMANDER IS FOUND NOT GUILTY

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Dec. 1.—(AP)—With the acquittal of Lieutenant Commander Richard P. Booth today the greatest series of court martial trials in the history of the navy came to an end. An expert has been called to try and open the safe.

Bloodhounds have been set on the trail of the supposed culprits who were frightened away by the attention which the explosion created.

JUDGE DECLARES LAW CROP SHOWS OVERPRODUCTION

Enforcement Would Cause
Repeal of Many Now
on Books

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—America and the individual states are suffering from an "overproduction" in the annual crop of state and federal laws. Justice Floyd E. Thompson of the Illinois supreme court prospective candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, declared tonight before the Lake county Bar association at Waukegan.

"Paternalism," he declared, "is the most insidious enemy of organized government adding that individual is the source of all governmental authority and on this theory is based the theory of state's rights which must be protected from the tyranny of centralization."

"In the future America must handpick her immigrant population and the selection must be made in the country of their birth."

"We Americans today awaken to find in the place of the land of liberty a region of regulation. Our legislators ought to begin to distinguish between the vapors of professional reformers and the demands of the people," he continued.

"The surest remedy for this law making craze is strictly to enforce all laws that are passed and an outraged people will immediately rise up in righteous rebellion and bring about the prompt repeal of existing paternalistic legislation and make legislative bodies more responsive to the true spirit of American government."

CRAIG CONTEMPT CASE MAY FINALLY END IN IMPEACHMENT CHARGE

Lawyers to Consider Action of Federal Judge
Mayer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Action will be taken early next week by President Coolidge upon the question of a pardon for Charles L. Craig, comptroller of New York City, who is under a sentence of sixty days in jail imposed by Federal Judge Mayer for contempt of court.

Attorney General Daugherty, who has pending before him a formal application for pardon spent most of today going over the records in the case and late in the day he conferred with President Coolidge.

The New York Democratic delegation in the house at a caucus tonight instructed members of the delegation who have been admitted to the practice of law to investigate the record in the Craig case and determine what remedy, if any is open to him and whether Federal Judge Mayer, who sentenced him has been guilty of an impeachable offense.

A resolution adopted by the 21 members of the delegation presented the lawyer members to consider "what restriction and limitations of jurisdiction" power or authority are appropriate to prevent for the future any similar gross abuse of power by Federal judges and appropriate resolutions of impeachment if necessary and of legislation if advisable.

MILITARY SECRET IN TEAPOT DOME AFFAIR

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Considerations which impelled the Navy department in 1921 to hasten the letting of contracts for the storage of oil from naval reserves were laid before the senate public lands committee today in executive session.

Rear Admiral J. K. Robinson, chief of the bureau of naval engineering, the sole witness today declined again to go fully into the leasing of the teapot dome field to the Sinclair Oil interests declined again to go fully into the details of the department's action except behind closed doors, declaring a grave military secret was involved.

Before going into executive session, however, considerable evidence was heard and the committee received advices from Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior in response to its invitation to him to again appear before it, that he would hold himself in readiness at any time.

The committee invited Mr. Fall yesterday to appear after several witnesses had testified concerning his personal financial affairs and the evidence was admitted to the record.

MANY LIVES ARE LOST WHEN DAM IS SWEEP AWAY

Huge Artificial Lake Overflows—Breaks Thru Dike

MILAN, Dec. 1. (A.P.)—The huge artificial lake at Dezzo near Bergamo, has overflowed and broken thru the dike, the waters sweeping down thru the valleys, overwhelming villages and drowning inhabitants by the scores. The number of victims is computed at 300 or more by some of the authorities.

The heavy rains which have been falling for the past few weeks caused the streams to overflow and filled the lake to the bursting point.

Millions of cubic yards of water were let loose and the terrific force of the flood swept everything before it. The village of Dezzo, originally containing 600 inhabitants, and the adjacent villages Menaglia and Teveno, were directly in the line of the rushing waters and were inundated. Many of the people however, were apprised of the break in the dike and fled to the hills.

Red Cross relief has been organized and the government is using all efforts to aid the sufferers.

The artificial lake was situated in the fertile valley of Camonica, about 500 feet above sea level. The bursting of the dike was followed by tragic scenes. The whole valley of Dezzo is devastated and eight villages at least have been blotted out. Dezzo itself was completely destroyed by the waters, which covered every house. Only the church steeple can be seen. Five generating plants were so badly damaged that the city of Bergamo is without lighting power.

The stricken people number in the thousands and army units have been despatched to the devastated zone to open up kitchens. Army engineers will give every possible aid in the reconstruction work.

The dike was 50 feet in height.

SUSPECTS IN MURDER MYSTERY ATTEMPT TO AVOID PROSECUTION

Man Goes on Hunger Strike and Woman Attempts Suicide

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—Otto Malm and Mrs. Katherine Baluk also known as Mrs. Malm, who were held for the slaying a month ago of Edward Lehman, a watchman, during the attempted burglary of a knitting goods factory, both were under special guards tonight as a result of their sensational efforts to avoid prosecution.

Last night Mrs. Baluk tried to commit suicide by strangling herself with a bed sheet. Today it was announced that Malm had refused food for 48 hours and apparently has determined to go on a hunger strike.

"I shall sit here and smoke cigarettes until I starve," Malm was quoted by guards as saying.

Mrs. Baluk in notes to her mother and Malm previous to her suicide attempt begged both to care for Tootsy, her two year old daughter, she having surrendered to be near the baby and suggested that Malm blame the slaying on her, free himself and bring up the child.

SETS HANDBAG DOWN AND LOSES DIAMONDS

TOLEDO, Dec. 1.—William Sterns, an independent jewelry salesman of Philadelphia, was robbed of diamonds and other precious stones worth $75,000 tonight at the Union Depot, he reported to police. Sterns set his handbag down while he purchased a ticket to Columbus and when he looked for the grip it was gone. The jewels were in it.

Sterns came to Toledo today from Detroit and called on several customers. About 8 o'clock he went to the depot.

Sterns told police detectives that the jewelry consisted of $35,000 worth of loose diamonds, and 150 diamond-set pins, rings, lavalliers and the like, worth $40,000.

Sterns does not represent any jewelry concern he says but buys and sells diamonds and other jewels on his own account.

CHAMPAIGN MAN FOUND DEAD IN BARN

Champaign, Ill., Dec. 1.—Donald R. Pfister, 29, was found dead in the barn at his home four miles north of here today with a bullet hole from a small caliber rifle in his right temple.

Planes Search For Lost Airmail Flyer

GRASS VALLEY, Calif., Dec. 1.—Clare C. Vance, airmail pilot who had been missing since 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon made a safe landing near Last Chance Mine, in Placer county late yesterday and today was on his way to Auburn, California, where he is expected tonight. Neither Vance nor his plane was injured in the landing, but Vance did not attempt to fly the plane out today. This information was received here tonight by Forest officials.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Dec. 1.—The snow-clad reaches of the Upper Sierra Nevada mountains were swept by a squadron of seven army and three airmail airplanes for several hours today in a vain search for Pilot Clare C. Vance, crack airmail flyer, who has been missing since 2 P. M. yesterday, when he "jumped off" from here on a scheduled mail flight to Reno. The search started after it was reported that Vance had failed to arrive at Reno and that no word had been heard from him at that place.

Directed by Colonel Nelson, superintendent of the air mail service for the west, and Captain John W. Signer, of the army air service the flight will be taken up again tomorrow.

The airman plan to fly as far east as Truckee, sweeping the terrain with powerful field glasses as they go and flying low so as to catch sight of Vance's machine if it had been forced into any of the precarious landings between Colfax, which marks one extremity of the snow line and Summit, which marks the other.

It is presumed that Vance was forced to fly into the heart of the swirling snowstorm that swept over the pinnacle-like Sierra foothills yesterday afternoon.

Vance carried no food and but little protection from the elements.

COLLEGE PROF. CLAIMS HUGHES MADE MISTAKE

Says Monroe Doctrine Rightly Belongs to All America

Philadelphia, Dec. 1.—Commemoration of the one hundredth anniversary of the Monroe Doctrine was continued here tonight when diplomatic representatives of several Latin-American countries delivered addresses at a meeting of the Academy of Political and Social Science. Secretary of State Hughes opened the centennial observance here last night when he spoke on the Monroe Doctrine under the joint auspices of the American Academy and the Philadelphia forum.

Those who spoke tonight included Jacobo Varela, Uruguayan minister to the United States; Dr. Ricardo J. Alfaro, minister from Panama; Salvador Cordova, minister from Honduras; and Professor Philip Marshall Brown of Princeton University.

After giving a historical review of his country Mr. Cordova said:

"We have full confidence that faithful to the spirit and tradition of justice which is the fundamental basis of her political and social structure this great country will always be the shadow of which the other nations of this hemisphere are safe from the attacks of the nations of the other continents, but also that like and elder brother the strongest and most prosperous of this hemisphere she will never forget that she has duties to fulfill toward them."

Dr. Ricardo J. Alfaro, also spoke.

"Under the ascendancy of the Monroe Doctrine," said Dr. Alfaro, we have seen European ambitions barred from the western hemisphere, the democratic system of government established in all countries of our continent, the cause of peace promoted and the progress of inter-American trade increased to an astonishing volume, and above all, the birth and expansion of Pan-Americanism."

The United States has no valid reason or right to arrogate to itself the sole interpretation of the Monroe Doctrine," said Professor Philip Marshall Brown "this doctrine is essentially a Pan-American principle that concerns all the nations of this hemisphere alike," he said. "The United States may at times be constrained, in an acute emergency to take the lead in the defense of this principle but it cannot rightfully claim it as private property."

"The other nations of the American continents properly resent such statements as Secretary Hughes unfortunately has seen fit to quote with approval from President Wilson."

"That the Monroe Doctrine was proclaimed by the United States on her own authority. It always has been maintained and always will be maintained upon her own responsibility."

"From the Latin American point of view there is no sound reason, either in the very nature of the Monroe Doctrine or in the inherent right of every nation to safeguard its interests why the United States should claim as private national policy."

The more we explain and disclaim, the more we suspect our ulterior motives or accuse us of arrogant bad motives."

GOV. McCRAE HAS NOT YET GIVEN BOND FOR HIS APPEARANCE

Sheriff Instructed Not to Serve Capias Until Monday

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 1.—Governor Warren T. McCray who was named in eight indictments, charging forgery, embezzlement, larceny and false pretenses returned by the Marion county grand jury yesterday had not given bond when the court house was closed tonight until next Monday. The governor's bond had been fixed at $25,000 by Judge James A. Collins of the criminal court and George Snyder, county sheriff, was instructed not to serve the capias on the grand jury indictment before Monday, although many believed that the bond would be given today.

Governor McCray was in conference during the day with his attorneys, James W. Noel, and George M. Barnard and Noel announced that many offers had been received from persons willing or desiring to go on the governor's surety. No announcement was made as to when the bond would be posted, but it was generally believed tonight that it would be early Monday morning to prevent the necessity of the sheriff making a formal arrest.

No statement was forthcoming from the executive today, although it was said he still was very much chagrined because he was not permitted to appear before the grand jury before the indictment was returned as he had requested in a letter to the foreman of the grand jury.

HUGHES' SPEECH CRITICISED BY GERMAN PAPERS

Claim America Plunged Central Europe Into Misery

BERLIN, Dec. 1. (A. P.)—Secretary Hughes' Philadelphia speech cabled here in brief form, draws adverse criticism from the conservative and junker organizations which loudly complain that the utterance of the American cabinet chief provide no concrete help for Germany in her present sorry plight.

The conservative Tages Zeitung says Mr. Hughes' statement is obviously intended as impartial, but it is regrettable that "Washington remains under the influence of French propaganda and fails to recognize that not France but Germany is threatened and needs security for the future."

"If what Poincare understands by security becomes a reality, namely the complete and permanent subjection of Germany under America's toleration," the newspaper adds, "all good wishes for Germany's prosperity amount to naught."

The Van-German Deutsche Zeitung says the speech was of the "Wilsonian type" and the monarchist Reichs Bote exclaims bitterly:

"American statesmen are fond of making high-flown speeches but when they come to deal with Poincare's tyranny and oppression of a defenseless people they shrug their shoulders and say that Europe is none of their business, notwithstanding the fact that America by its participation in the war plunged Central Europe into misery."

JURY RELEASES ALL DEFENDANTS IN LIQUOR CASE

Dissolution of Firm of Grommes & Ullrich
Held Legal

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—The federal jury trying nine defendants, including Roscoe Andrews, former prohibition director for Illinois, on charges of conspiring to violate the prohibition law in connection with the dissolution of the liquor firm of Grommes & Ullrich tonight returned a verdict finding all the defendants not guilty. The jury deliberated about ten hours.

The jury had been instructed by Federal Judge Evan A. Evans to decide the case on the issue of whether the dissolution of the liquor firm constituted a conspiracy to sell liquor.

The firm dissolved about a year ago by distributing liquor stocks valued at about $250,000 to its stockholders, giving one case of liquor for each share of stock. The government contended that the dissolution was simply a ruse to sell the liquor while the defense attempted to show that the liquid distribution was carried out under authority of permits issued by former Prohibition Director Andrews and that the trucks delivering the liquor were guarded by federal prohibition officers.

Mr. Andrews on the witness stand in his own defense admitted that he had given permits for the distribution, declaring that he believed it his duty under the law to do so and said that he had also advised federal guards to accompany the trucks.

Judge Evans told the jury that the permits were illegal but that their decision must be based on the legality of the permits but on whether the dissolution was a conspiracy to sell liquor.

After wrangling for several hours the jury came into the court room about two hours before returning its verdict and asked Judge Evans whether the stockholders who disposed of their stock to others just prior to the dissolution had any legal right to do so. Judge Evans ruled that the stock could be sold and resold so long as it remained simply a sale of stock. He declared that the question involved was whether it was liquor that was being sold. Criminal intent must exist he said, before the conspiracy can be found to exist.

Trial of the case consumed three weeks.

During the trial Judge Evans ruled that the possession of beverage liquor was illegal after a year from the time prohibition went into effect.

Besides the former prohibition director the defendants included John E. Earley, former chief enforcement officer for Illinois; Charles A. Williams, former judge, who acted as legal adviser during the dissolution; Robert Mulcahy, former alderman and state representative, alleged to have received more than 1,000 cases of the "dividend"; Harry S. Tazny, former bailiff, who acted as a salesman of stock; Frank A. Rehm, former president of the firm; Frederick Diehl, former secretary; Arthur P. Christmann, former treasurer, and S. J. Goodred, former office manager of the firm.

Two of the original defendants were dismissed after the trial started, Judge Evans holding that the state had not made a case against them.

A THOUGHT

Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour.—Pet, 5:8.

Without your knowledge, the eyes and ears of many will see and watch you, as they have done already.—Cicero.

Remember, the Near East committee suggests that if you are unable to observe Golden Rule Sunday, some other day will do.

The Oil City Derrick, recognized as the leading trade paper in the oil and gas world, says the showing in the Morgan county oil field merits further investigation. This is at least encouraging.

In Tokio just now a city plan commission would have a great task. Tokio has the opportunity in its rebuilding work of constructing a wonderful city. The only question is whether or not the Japanese have both the money and the vision to do the job.

Indications from financial centers are that business will be good at least during 1924. The railroads still have big improvement programs to carry forward and the demand for steel and other basic commodities continues. Perhaps some of the business prospects have a political origin. But what's the difference, so long as business keeps good?

REAL VALUES

A southern woman past 80 years of age is about to come into a fortune of millions. The case serves to impress again what does money amount to by comparison with other things in life, and the worth of money shrinks the older one gets. One hundred thousand dollars would have meant more to this woman 20 years ago than millions do now.

Talking about life, here's the way a Jacksonville citizen recently summed up the things that are really worth while: "Nothing else matters," he said, "if you can keep your own self-respect; if you can maintain confidence in other people and if you hold to the belief that there is a Supreme Being."

Think of that summary and you will be impressed with how much the words mean.

GOOD BUSINESS

(An editorial on Golden Rule Sunday by George M. Reynolds, Chicago Bank President).

The greatest work which is being done in war-torn Europe and Asia nowadays is that which is being accomplished with the child ren by the American Near East Relief. These orphan schools are producing the future leaders among the men and women of that part of the world. Appraising this work, not with the eye of the maudlin sentimentalist but from the point of view of the American business man, it is well worth while. So worth while that the whole American people should observe Golden Rule Sunday on Dec. 2 for the benefit of these children.

Give these boys and girls of the Near East three or four years under American teachers in orphanage schools, where they are being taught as diligently and carefully as children in our schools at home and they will soon become self-supporting.

Such work is the only hope of an otherwise hopeless situation. If order and progress and prosperity are to be brought out of the discord and hate and ignorance of the present, the work of the Near East Relief must go on.

HOW QUICKLY WE ESTABLISH CUSTOMS

It is remarkable how quickly a new institution comes to be thought of as if it had existed forever. Take bathtubs, for instance. According to an article in Collier's Weekly:

"The first regular bathtub in this country was put in a Cincinnati home in 1842. It was made of mahogany, lined with sheet lead, and its excited owner gave a party to exhibit it. The next day Cincinnati papers denounced the new device as a luxurious and undemocratic vanity. Medical men called it a menace to health. When introduced into Virginia the Old Dominion taxed each such tub $30 a year. Boston made these bathtubs unlawful."

Now no American home is considered furnished unless it has its shining white bathtub, and abstinence from the tub's use is properly regarded as a disgrace in any respectable community. From tubs we proceed rapidly to showers and swimming pools. It is a bathing age.

Yet for many thousands years, man was considered civilized without bathtubs. The next time you are tempted to spank Johnnie for not taking his weekly or semi-weekly ablution, it may be just as well to remember the facts given above, and reflect that not more than two generations of all your son's ancestors ever had a bathtub.

SINGING AMERICA

What are the 20 best songs of American origin? Or what are America's 20 favorite songs for community or group singing?

They are difficult questions to answer off-hand. Even careful study might fail to disclose infallible answers. The Committee on People's Songs, however, has made an attempt to answer them, and has given its report to the Recreation Congress of this country. That body now recommends "that all social agencies aid in the frequent singing of these songs until our people can sing them from memory."

The songs selected are: Old Folks at Home; My Old Kentucky Home; America; Old Black Joe; Dixie; Battle Hymn of the Republic; Carry Me Back to Ole Virginia; There's a Long, Long Trail; America the Beautiful; The Star-Spangled Banner; Home, Sweet Home; Good Night, Ladies; Juanita; My Bonnie; Mother Macomber; Till We Meet Again; Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean; When Good Fellows Get Together; Smiles; and I've Been Working on the Railroad.

Some of these have already stood the test of a good many years of favor. Others have been popular very recently and may remain so, although many would question their lasting qualities.

There is one very fine thing about any such list and the purpose to have the whole country learn to sing all the songs given, but the better the first 20 selected songs are known and the more widely they are sung, the sooner more and better ones will be added naturally and easily. And the idea of the Recreation Congress that such national singing is good for us is undoubtedly true.

TOYS AT BRENNAN'S FORMER RESIDENT STILL INTERESTED IN CITY

Mr. Ensley Moore in his work as Jacksonville historian keeps in touch with many former residents of this city. Not long since Mr. Moore received a letter from James E. Babb, prominent attorney of Lewiston, Idaho, congratulating Mr. and Mrs. Moore upon their recent wedding anniversary and recalling with pleasure early visits at the Moore home.

Mr. Babb sent a copy of the Lewiston Tribune, which contained an article relating to barges on the Mississippi river, taken from the Jacksonville Journal. The matter was of interest in Lewiston from the fact that the western city is the junction of two navigable rivers. Mr. Babb graduated from Illinois college in the class of '81 and was a classmate of W. J. Bryan and some others who have come to occupy places of importance in public affairs.

CITY PLAN FUND TO BE COMPLETED SOON

Solicitors Will Start Tomorrow to Raise Remainder of Fund of $5,000 for Making of City Plan

Arrangements were completed last night at a meeting of the City Plan commission for the campaign next week to complete the fund of $5,000 necessary to finance the making of Jacksonville's city plan. Twenty-seven solicitors will start work Monday morning and it is hoped that by Wednesday noon, the necessary amount will have been secured.

Nearly $3,000 has already been subscribed to the fund, and about $2,600 remains to be raised. Reports of the solicitors will be made at luncheons held by the commission on Tuesday and Wednesday noons at the Peacock Inn. As soon as the entire amount has been raised, a contract will probably be made with Myron H. West of Chicago for the making of the city plan. In such a case, he could start work on the plan by the first of the year and have it completed in six to nine months.

A number of drawings and pictures showing plans of other cities are now on exhibit in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, and it is urged that those interested make an effort to see these plans. It is hoped that citizens of Jacksonville who have not contributed to the city plan fund will do so during the coming week. The solicitors, who are members of the commission, have been handed lists of citizens whom they will see personally.

YEGGS DAMAGE SAFE BUT GET LITTLE CASH

Yeggs gained entrance to the Lewis-Clary elevator in this city some time Friday night, and, after knocking the combination knob off the door, opened the safe and took a small amount of change. The thieves entered the building by kicking out a rear window. They pounded the knob off the safe door with some heavy object. Then they tinkered with the lock in such a manner as to open the safe door and robbed the safe. The amount taken was insignificant, and the damage to the safe was the most serious part of the affair.

WATERWORKS WILL BE THEME AT NEXT FORUM

Big Gathering Planned for Tuesday Evening When Needed Improvement in Water System Will Be Discussed

Plans are under way for a largely attended forum meeting on the local waterworks question at the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening. The committee of 25 has undertaken the task of getting out a full attendance of citizens who are interested in this question be present, and a special invitation is extended to the ladies. Chairman Cody of the entertainment committee is preparing a splendid program, and following the meeting, refreshments and smokes will be distributed.

Those who have studied the matter consider the time is now ripe for needed improvements in the city's water system. The main artery leading from the pumping plant into the city is inadequate, and thousands of gallons of water are being lost daily thru leakage. It is desired to construct a new main and to use the old as an auxiliary in case of need. If the old main should become useless, the city would be without water. The whole question will be thoroughly discussed at the forum meeting by city officials, engineers and citizens.

See the mad, raging typhoon whirl trees, people and cities skyward and dash them to destruction! See the most stupendous catastrophe ever staged for a screen production, a huge tidal wave that levels entire islands and sweeps a whole city out to sea.

No less tumultuous and awe-inspiring is the gripping love-drama which unfolds with such a background. A man, once he had been at a man should be, now in the depths of despair and degeneracy, but still the idol of two women. ### INVOKE GOLDEN RULE TO AID CHILDREN

Special Appeal Made on Behalf of Starving Boys and Girls of The Near East—Ask For Self Denial Today.

An effort is now being made to have a general observance in Jacksonville today of Golden Rule Sunday. The purpose is thru self-denial to raise funds that are vastly needed for food for children of the Near East.

The local committee suggests that if for any reason it is not possible to observe the self-denial plan today, that some other day during the coming week be chosen. The Near East organization gives in the following paragraphs some facts about Golden Rule Sunday and also about the needs of the refugee children:

Practical Application

"As a practical application of the Golden Rule, as a spiritual exercise for the prosperous, as a source of food supply for the homeless and the starving, as an expression of international Golden Rule Sunday is proposed for December 2, 1923.

"On this date all persons who are disposed to make a practical application of the Golden Rule are requested to provide for their Sunday dinner approximately the same menu that is appended and provided for at least 50,000 of the children in Near East Relief orphanages. The menu as adapted and proposed for American homes will be adequate in nutritive food value and palatable in form. Oscar the world-famous chef of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, Miss Bradley of the Farmer School of Cookery and others are providing special recipes or forms in which to serve the orphanage menu in American homes.

"The difference between the cost of the usual Sunday dinner and the simpler, less expensive orphanage menu is to be given as a contribution and thank-offering for the purchase of food for the orphans of the Near East.

"The second of December will be the first Sunday after Thanksgiving, when Americans everywhere will have brought home to them with striking force the prosperity, tranquillity, and good fortune of America. Appropriately, Golden Rule Sunday will give special consideration to the needs of those less highly favored.

The Call of Childhood

1. Tens of thousands of children in the Near East are without father, mother, or country.

2. These children are as innocent of any crime and are as much entitled to daily food and the necessities of life as the children in our own homes.

3. Their parents were killed or died of persecution, exposure and starvation in connection with the deportations of 1915 and subsequent years, including the Smyrna and Anatolia evacuations of 1922-23. Many of the parents sacrificed their lives in defense of the principle of religious liberty.

4. They have no responsible relatives to provide support. Wherever relatives can be found the responsibility for the support of the child is thrown upon the relative.

5. They are practically all under 16 years of age; 81.6 percent are under 14 years of age; 61.6 percent are under twelve years of age. During the past year, approximately 10 percent of the children have been graduated from the orphanages or in some way established in self-support. Those remaining are too young to be thrown upon their own resources.

6. Most of these children are refugees from Turkey. They are technically of Turkish citizenship, but they are now exiles from their ancestral homes and dare not return.

7. They have no more claim legally or morally upon the hospitality of Syria, Greece or other countries that have given them temporary shelter than they have upon other countries of Europe, Asia or America. Greece, Syria, and other countries have given them a safe haven, which is more than the richer countries of Europe and America are willing to do, but Greece and Syria cannot provide food and material support for these orphan refugees in addition to the enormous number of refugees of their own nationalities already dependent upon them.

8. These children are wholly dependent upon outside philanthropy.

NOTICE

I will not be responsible for any bills only contracted by myself.—W. R. Burmaster.

MRS. HOWARD HURT.

Mrs. C. H. Howard has been confined for several days to her home, 509 South Kosciusko street, on account of bad sprains in one leg and one hand, sustained in a fall at Shanken's store recently. M. H. Howard is employed at the store and was engaged in her work there when the accident occurred. One hand and the thumb and fingers were badly sprained and one leg was also badly wrenched in the fall. She will be unable to be at work for several days.

C. J. DE GOVEIA IS AUTHOR OF BOOK

Former Jacksonville Young Man Writes Volume on "The Community Playhouse."

A Toledo paper of recent date gives the following paragraphs with reference to a book written by C. J. DeGoveia, now of the Lotus Press of Toledo and a former resident of this city.

The Community Playhouse. Anyone interested in the development of the little theater or community playhouse movement in his city, or indeed anyone anywhere at all concerned in the business of organizing and directing local theatrical enterprises that have a purpose, would do well to read and then to study carefully The Community Playhouse, by C. J. DeGoveia.

This volume is described as "a brief, comprehensive manual of the play, player, acting, costume, stage, scenery, lighting, economics of the theater, the building itself, and the audience, with particular reference to neighborhood and small town needs."

It is all of that and considerably more. The author claims for his volume that it is "for the beginner in Community Playhouse Art," but the book gives evidence that he has made a deep and widely-ranging study of his subject, for within its pages may be found much that will be of value, even to those far past the beginner's stage.

The volume is so complete that it might be taken as a sole textbook by an interested group of persons in a community anxious to establish a local theater for the dramatic expression of its people. In the sixteen chapters these subjects among others are treated: The Players' Group, The Audience, The Building, The Stage, Scenery, Making of Scenery, Designing Scenery, The Lighting, Production, Acting, Grouping, Color and Costume.

In explaining his subject, Mr. DeGoveia says: "The author prefers to use the term Community Playhouse as applying to those little theaters which, through community co-operation, are able to provide their own dramatic amusement. This does not mean that the plays must be written by local dramatists, though they often are; it does not mean that those local plays must be woven around local people, although good work has been done along that line. It signifies, rather, an institution which provides the means whereby a community, or a class of people large enough to support it, can give individual expression to their dramatic impulses, learn the technique of the stage, and support the best plays of the type which appeal to them."

MAKES REPORT ON QUARANTINE CASES

Dr. R. V. Brokaw, County Health Officer, Emphasizes Need of Sanitary Improvement Program

Typhoid fever heads the list of communicable diseases now under quarantine in this city, according to Dr. R. V. Brokaw, county health officer.

Said Dr. Brokaw: "The number of cases of typhoid which continue to occur in Jacksonville serves to emphasize the urgent need of a more adequate sewerage system and a very definite sanitary improvement program; which among other things includes a more extensive distribution of our present water supply. A pure water supply and an adequate sewerage system are the two fundamental factors upon

MINORS NOT ALLOWED AS SPECIAL DEPUTIES

Attorney General Brundage Rules
However, That They May Join
Sheriff's Posse When Legally Called Upon.

SPRINGFIELD. (A. P.)—Boys over 18 years of age must join a sheriff's posse when fully called upon to do so, Attorney General Edward J. Brundage has advised State's Attorney Frank M. Ramey of Hillsboro. Minors however, the attorney general added, are ineligible to appointment as special deputy sheriff inasmuch as that office "is judicial and concerns the administration of justice."

"The office of special deputy sheriff is statutory," Mr. Brundage declared. "I can find only two statutes which authorize the sheriff to appoint special deputies. These are section 9 of the act in relation to sheriffs, which authorizes him to appoint a special deputy to serve summons issued out of a court of record. The section reads:

"That the sheriff of any county in this state, if in his judgment the preservation of the peace and good order of society shall require, may summon and enroll any number of special deputies which in his judgment the exigencies of the case require, and such deputies shall be subject to his orders, and shall have all the powers of deputy sheriffs until discharged, or excused from duty by the sheriff. Any person so summoned by the sheriff to act as a deputy who shall decline or refuse to act as such shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and be fined not less than fifty dollars nor more than two hundred dollars for each and every offense, or imprisonment in the county jail not to exceed three months."

"The statute does not prescribe the age at which a person may be appointed or required to serve as such special deputy. The rule as to eligibility of infants to public office or employment is stated as follows:

"At common law infants are eligible to office which are ministerial in their character and call for the exercise of skill and diligence only; but they are not eligible to offices which are judicial or concern the administration of justice, nor should officers imposing duties to the proper discharge of which judgment, discretion, and experience are necessary, be entrusted to infants."

There is no decision of the Supreme court which determines this question, Mr. Brundage advised, and in the absence of such a decision it was his opinion that the "common law rule applies to the question."

"It is evident," he continued, "that the office or employment of a special deputy sheriff, is one that calls for the exercise of judgment, discretion and experience, and not infrequently demands judgment and discretion of high order."

"Therefore, I think a person under the age of 21 years is not eligible to the office or employment of special deputy sheriff, under the provision of the statute, cannot be appointed lawfully thereto, and cannot be required to serve as such deputy. This, however, does not apply to a special deputy sheriff appointed for the purpose of serving a summons. Neither does it apply to a minor over the age of 18 years who neglects or refuses to join the posse comitatus when lawfully required to do so under the provision of the statutes relating to sheriffs."

ENGINEMEN CELEBRATE FOUNDING OF ORDER

Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers Will Commemorate Fiftieth Anniversary—Started from Small Beginning

CHICAGO. (A.P.)—Fifty years ago eleven firemen and engineers met in Port Jarvis, New York, to aid the widow of a comrade, killed in an accident, which meeting will be commemorated Sunday, December 2, by approximately 120,000 members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers as the birthday of their order now 50 years old.

Meetings to celebrate the anniversary will be held simultaneously in Chicago, St. Louis, Boston, Buffalo, Port Jarvis, New York, Atlanta, Kansas City, St. Paul, Denver, San Antonio, and San Francisco, in the United States, and in Winnipeg and Montreal in Canada, according to Dennis McCarthy, chairman of the legislative board of the brotherhood.

The original meeting in Port Jarvis took place December 1, 1873, but the anniversary is to be celebrated December 2 this year. Founders of the brotherhood had come together to provide relief for another comrade, according to Mr. McCarthy, when news came of the death of a fireman in an accident. They formed a purse for the relief of the fireman's widow, and the interest which they took in the case brought them together the following year at Hornsdale, N. Y., where the brotherhood was actually organized with 12 lodges.

The lodge now comprises 120,000 members with resources of approximately $12,000,000 and insurance policies totaling $156,000,000, according to Mr. McCarthy, who added that approximately $34,000,000 has been paid out in insurance settlements since the beginning of the brotherhood. In addition to the insurance policy, which provides for payment, in case of death, or disability, Mr. McCarthy said, the organization provides a funeral benefit fund for those who cannot pass the insurance examinations and that it also takes care of members who suffer from tuberculosis by making them an allowance for treatment and expenses.

Delegates from all of the territory surrounding Chicago will attend the Chicago meeting, which will be addressed by Mayor William E. Dever, State Senator William S. Jewell, of Lewistown, Dennis McCarthy of Springfield, C. V. McLaughlin, Chicago, vice president of the brotherhood, Charles Thomas, St. Louis, general chairman of the Wabash railroad company, and Mrs. Jennie Shanklin, Springfield, state instructor of the ladies auxiliary which will meet with the brotherhood in the celebration.

Miss Dorothy Mae Smith of St. Louis, Mo., who graduated from Illinois Woman's college with the class of 1923, is spending the week-end at the college as a guest of her sister, Miss Katherine Smith.

AUTOMOBILE SITUATION

Roger W. Babson Outlines Position of Industry and its Securities

Wellesley Hills, Mass., Nov. 30, 1923.—The outstanding features of the automobile situation are: (1) heavy but declining production, (2) declining demand, (3) fairly stable prices with downward adjustments here and there, (4) keen competition, and (5) generally good financial condition of the more important companies, according to a survey made by Roger W. Babson, the statistician which is summed up in a statement issued today.

"The production of cars and trucks for the first ten months of this year averaged 307,635 cars and 32,029 trucks per month," says Mr. Babson, "this total output is about 60 per cent better than the output in the corresponding period of 1922. Notwithstanding this heavy rate of production stocks of new cars have apparently not accumulated to a burdensome degree. Sales during the first three-quarters of the year kept pace with production."

"Demand last spring and summer exceeded dealers' expectations and many found themselves without cars enough to meet the needs of their customers. With this in mind dealers are now inclined to plan on liberal stocks for next year. Manufacturers apparently are also inclined to look for another heavy increase in sales and are planning on a much larger output."

"The industry has been favored not only by an unusually strong demand but also by the fact that automobiles are cheaper, relative to pre-war ideas of value, than most other commodities. By reason of the large number of concerns competing for business, and also by reason of the necessity of lower prices in order to appeal to successively lower levels of purchasing power, the trend in price has been downward and there is nothing in sight that indicates a change in this trend."

"How long the industry will continue its remarkable growth is difficult to say. The changing ratio in the rate of registration increase, and the increased cost of selling, seem to indicate resistance in expanding the market. It is probable that the more alert manufacturers are continuing to plan on more cheaply made cars in the future in order that they may put prices lower and appeal to larger numbers of people. So long as this tendency proves profitable it is difficult to say when the industry will reach the point where it will be primarily on a replacement basis."

"Another important factor is the traffic congestion prevailing in many large cities which is beginning to prove a distinct hindrance to the sale of cars to residents. In some large places it is much more comfortable to walk or to use trolleys, subways or trains. It is feared that this content as to seriously curtail demand and the industry is seeking to have cities plan future street construction so as to give automobile traffic first consideration."

"The chief danger in the automobile situation is the tendency of buyers to exceed the safe limit of expenditure. However, so long as customers can manipulate their budgets so as to include automobile expenditure at present levels the industry will continue to expand."

"Present demand for automobiles is exceedingly good when you consider that general business as reflected on the Babsonchart is running 7 per cent below normal. "There is nothing in the action of motor stocks which suggests a different market movement from the rest as a whole," continued Mr. Babson. "An average of 13 representative issues, both car and truck, sold at a high, in the spring of 48, declined to a low last summer of 31 and have rallied to around 37; 7 motor accessory issues from a high of 76 declined to 48 and now maintain a level around 57. All issues used are New York Stock Exchange listed and represent body, wheel, carburetor and similar plants. Tires, however, are not considered. Examining the movements of individual issues in these groups one fails to find any evidence of a movement in specific issues in opposition to the trend. The apparently greater intensity of competition in the popular priced car field than in other departments of activity in the motor business seems to suggest varying trends in the different issues. All, however, have recovered from 25 to 40 per cent or 50 per cent of their decline."

"Looking back a little further it appears that automobile stocks have very closely followed the trend of the general market since the decline in 1920. It is probably reasonable to assume that they will do so in the future."

FREEPORT NAMED BY DISGUSTED HOUSEWIFE

Was Originally Called "Winnesheik" but Gradually Changed in Accordance with Ironical Remark of Woman Whose Husband Was Too Liberal

FREEPORT, Ill. (A.P.)—An ironic remark, made by a woman whose husband was in the habit of bringing company home to meals, gave Freeport its name, according to tradition as recorded by Professor L. A. Fulwider, principal of Freeport high school in his history of Stephenson county.

The story as told by Professor Fulwider follows:

The settlement was called "Winnesheik" up until 1836, that being the name of the Winnebago chief who had his village near the settlement. Sometime before that, a man named William Baker had established a tavern on the Pecatonica river front. Baker was a hospitable gentleman and the latch string was always out, with the result that many strangers were entertained without charge. This practice was a severe tax on the Baker larder and kept Mrs. Baker hard at work.

Mrs. Baker, finally becoming tired of the business and annoyed at Mr. Baker's reckless hospitality, announced at the breakfast table one morning that thereafter the place was to be called "Free Port." The incident spread quickly over the surrounding territory and greatly amused the pioneers so that they gradually came to call the town Freeport.

Mr. Baker's hospitality was due, the tradition says, partly to the fact that he was the first real estate dealer in the county.

Prof. Fulwider's history says that the mound builders were the first inhabitants known to have occupied the vicinity of Freeport, and that they were followed by the Algonquin and Dakota Indians, probably many years later. Of these Indians the Winnebagos, a tribe of the Dakotas, were among the strongest. The Sacs and the Foxes, two other tribes in the vicinity were active in opposing the white settlers, the history says, and were not subdued until the Blackhawk war, several years after Illinois attained statehood.

Miss Virginia Gentry of New London, Missouri, who was a student at Illinois Coman's college last year, is a week-end guest at the college.

CAN YOU KEEP A SECRET? SO CAN THEY.

"If you like this play please tell your friends. But, pray! don't tell them how it ends."

This brief rhymed request, printed at the head of the program of "The Cat and the Canary" the famous exciting play that comes to the Grand on next Thursday night has been read by nearly a million of theatre-goers on both sides of the Atlantic who have seen John Willard's thrilling drama, and so far as Kilbourn Gordon, Inc., the producer, can discover not one has failed to respect it.

This loyalty of audience to producers is one of the many remarkable features of this most remarkable of plays. For a million men and women to keep a secret is extraordinary—but then so is "The Cat and the Canary," and while, during the long New York run many patrons were seen to return time and again to the theatre it was noticed that they usually came as hosts to friends whose curiosity had been excited by reports about the famous drama, for once you have shivered and gasped and laughed over the exciting situations the next best sensation is in watching your friends go through the same experience.

"The Cat and the Canary" is that rarest of plays in which every single character is of utmost importance. There are no secondary roles—in fact some of the greatest thrills are furnished by two characters who spend but a few minutes each on the stage, and yet anything short of the most capable work on the part of the two artists who portray them would seriously retard the sensational action of the play. And so, while Kilbourn Gordon, Inc., does not use the time-worn slogan "All Star Cast."

RABBITS
These are the days when the poor little bunnies who jumped and scampered so merrily last summer as we drove through the country find nothing merry about their scampering. Dogs and men hunt them eagerly and the rabbits scamper for their lives.

The cook usually receives a rabbit skinned and dressed. She should be sure that the little sort of "kernels" under the forepaws have been removed as these accent the wild taste and impart a strong, rather unpleasant flavor to the meat.

If a wild rabbit is frozen for 12 hours the flavor is greatly improved. In any event let the rabbit stand in cold salt water over night.

No matter how the rabbit is to be cooked and served it should be parboiled in boiling water to cover with a medium sized onion. This destroys the wild unpleasant taste and does not make the meat taste of onion.

Fried Rabbit
After rabbit has soaked in salt water disjoint and parboil for 10 minutes with onion. Remove from water and throw onion and water away. Put rabbit in kettle, cover with boiling water and simmer until tender. When rabbit is about half done add salt. It will take about an hour to cook the meat. Drain from water, roll in flour and fry in half butter and half lard. Make a gravy in the frying pan, using half rabbit stock and half milk or cream for liquid.

From the southwestern part of the United States comes this recipe for "bunny sausage."

GOING TO GERMANY? TAKE YOUR BATH HERE

BERLIN. (A. P.)—German culture is seriously threatened by the high price of soap. An ordinary cake of toilet soap cost thirty million marks October 5, which was about 16 American cents estimated on the rate of exchange for that day. Laundry soap is proportionately high, and the press is filled with complaints that the average family cannot maintain decent sanitary conditions in the home under such prices. Starck and other laundry supplies are also soaring.

Public baths are operating only spasmodically because of the scarcity of coal and many of the private bath parlors have also shut down. Few apartment houses

Bunny Sausage

After skinning, the rabbit is soaked over night in cold water. In the morning the meat is cut from the bones and put thru the food chopper. For every pound of meat add one tablespoon minced onion, two-thirds teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon black pepper, one-sixteenth teaspoon cayenne, two tablespoons cracker crumbs, two tablespoons sweet cream. Mix thoroughly and make into small patties. Fry slowly in a covered frying pan until well done. It will take about 45 minutes.

Rabbit Pie

Soak the rabbit in salt water and parboil in onion water as in the first recipe. Boil in water with one small onion until tender. Strain and thicken stock with butter and flour rubbed together. Put pieces of rabbit in baking dish, pour over gravy and cover with baking powder biscuit dough. Bake 30 minutes in a hot oven.

Allow one tablespoon flour, one-half tablespoon butter and one-half teaspoon salt for every cup of stock when making gravy.

Casserole of Rabbit.

Soak rabbit and disjoint. Parboil for half an hour in onion water to more than cover. Drain and roll in flour. Fry in half butter and half lard until brown on all sides. Put rabbit in a casserole with one cup diced carrots, one-half cup diced celery, one-fourth cup minced onion and one cup diced tart apple. Make a thin gravy in the frying pan with the rabbit and pour over rabbit and vegetable. There should be enough gravy to cover. Cover casserole and cook in a moderate oven for 45 minutes.

Cost of Beauty

My cost, $100,000—yours, 50c a week
By Edna Wallace Hopper

My quest of beauty cost nothing and me at least $100,000. We searched the world to get the best that science had to offer.

But those helps made me famous as a beauty. And they have kept me a youthful beauty to my grand old age.

Now I want others to enjoy those same helps. I have arranged so all may get them. Any girl or woman may use all my helps at a cost not over 50c per week.

White Youth Clay
My skin is like a baby's, yet my age is 62. I owe that largely to a superclay which France created for me.

Not like the crude and muddy clays so many still employ. This clay is white, refined and dainty. It is based on 20 years of scientific study. No old-time clay brings comparable results.

I call this my White Youth Clay. It purges the skin of all that clogs it—the causes of blackheads and blemishes. It brings that afterglow which so amazes and delights. It combats all lines and wrinkles, reduces enlarged pores.

How it multiplies beauty, how it keeps youthful bloom, is shown by my complexion. No girl or woman can afford to go without it. The cost is 50c and $1.

Two Master Creams
My Facial Youth is a liquid cleanser which I also found in France. Great beauty experts the world over now employ it, but they charge too much.

It contains no animal, no vegetable fat. The skin cannot absorb it. It simply cleans to the depths, then departs. All the dirt,

TELEPHONE TALKS

Sometimes, when a number is asked for on the telephone, the operator reports that the number called does not answer.

Experience shows the operator is seldom mistaken. In the majority of cases the person called is absent or not near enough to hear the telephone bell. Sometimes he is just slow in answering.

"Don't answer" reports would be greatly reduced if subscribers would be prompt in answering when their bells ring.

A WORD TO THE WISE

"In March I was called to the bedside of my sister in Brewton, Alabama. She was given up to die and was almost dead. Talked in a whisper. Doctors said nothing but an operation would save her and she was too weak for that. Her color was yellow as a pumpkin and she was filled with gas. That day I heard of May's Wonderful Remedy and went and got a bottle for her. In three weeks she was able to be about and walked a mile to church. I am praising your medicine to everyone." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. For sale at all druggists.

CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE

At a meeting of the Board of the Anti-Tuberculosis League on Friday night plans were laid for the annual sale of Christmas Seals. The selling of seals has been one of the foremost activities of the League and much good has been accomplished through funds thus secured. For some years free lunches have been provided at the Josephine Milligan School and there has been constant effort put forth on the part of the League to promote education about tuberculosis. It has been active in the support of the Sanatorium.

A balance on hand from the funds received at the campaign of 1922 will be added to funds received this year and new work instituted in the securing of a Tuberculosis Nurse who will work under the joint supervision of the County Health officer and a committee from the Anti-Tuberculosis League. The value of such work cannot be overestimated but the fullest support of the public will be necessary to provide funds sufficient to secure a competent nurse and provide transportation that her work throughout the county may be effective. That the need of such supervision is necessary is evidenced by the fact that in 1922, fifty-seven deaths from tuberculosis were reported from Morgan County and with this basis a conservative estimate of the number of active cases in the county is 250.

Seals will be on sale through the school children and at various stations throughout the city. Health Bonds ranging in value from $5.00 to $100 will also be on sale.

Miss Louise Gates has been secured to conduct the seal sale. She will have her office in the County Health Department offices at the City Hall.

Woman's College

ment, an annual Thanksgiving event, was called. Rain brought the hard fought contest to a close at the end of the second quarter.

At one o'clock an elaborate four course dinner was served in the dining-room which had been beautifully decorated by the Freshmen. Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Metcalf acted as host and hostess in the absence of Dr. and Mrs. Harker. After dinner Mr. Metcalf introduced Miss Neville as toastmistress and the toasts were given in the following program:

Toasts.

Toastmistress, Miss Neville—"We take the golden road to Samarkand" —Flecker.

The Pilgrims—"The dust is old upon my sandals shoon, and still I am a pilgrim."—Sara Jones.

Samarkand—"Live on a hill against the sky and look on mountains and the sea and a thin white moon in the pepper tree."—Ruth Webb.

The Merchandise—"Ivory, apes, and peacocks."—Mrs. Seabury.

Dr. Harker telegraphed his greetings from Berkeley, California and after the toasts it was voted unanimously to return his greetings from the college.

Mr. Metcalf is attending some of the sessions of the Older Boys Conference in Galesburg.

The Dramatic club will have their try-out for new members some time before the Christmas vacation.

Miss Miriam McOmber, Alumnae field secretary, is spending several days at the college the guest of her sister, Miss Harriet McOmber.

Miss Mildred Brown of Fairbault, Minn., is a guest at the college over the week end. Miss Brown was a student at the college last year.

Mrs. Clarence Nordling of Winchester was a visitor at the college Wednesday of this week. Mrs. Nordling was Miss Mary Hall and graduated in the class of 1923.

Miss Mildred Barton, Danville, Mrs. Fritz Haskell, Winchester, and Miss Minnie Balcke of Pekin, Ill., are guests of Miss Winnie Wackerle.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark B. Hunt are visiting at the home of Mr. Hunt's parents at Keytsville, Missouri.

Mrs. Seabury, director of the School of Fine Arts, is taking some of the members of her Art Class to Chicago for the week end. While in Chicago they expect to visit the Art Museum.

The Young Woman's Christian Association has organized a Freshman Commission consisting of ten girls, to forward the interest of the Y. W. C. A. within the Freshman class. At present they are planning to give a stunt to make money to send a Freshman delegate to the Student Volunteer Conference at Indianapolis during the Christmas holidays.

Rev. H. W. McPherson of Danville and Miss Marian Humphreys of Oakwood, Ill., spent Friday at the college. Miss Humphreys was a member of the class of 1921 and is now teaching in the Oakwood High School.

Mrs. Marguerite Forrest, teacher of voice in the College of Music, and her daughter, left Friday night for Chicago where they will spend the week end.

Miss Florence Kirby, teacher of piano, in the College of Music, is spending the week end in Chicago.

The Jacksonville branch of the Alumnae Association held their regular monthly luncheon at noon Saturday at the Peacock Inn.

Thanksgiving day was very delightfully closed by two Dramatic club plays given in Music Hall under the direction of Miss Ida Belle Davis. The first play "Neighbors" by Zona Gale, was a picture of poor, kind-hearted folk who forgot their own troubles in their efforts to help a friend in need. The second, "The Trysting Place" by Booth Tarkington, showed us an evening in a fashionable hotel. Amusing complications arose from too many appointments having been made for the same place. Both plays were exceedingly clever and showed much ability on the part of the actors as well as the director.

Mrs. Wallace N. Stearns was hostess at a very delightful tea given Saturday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Busey of Champaign.

Misses Alice Barwise and Birdie Arbutnot are visiting Miss Ruby Jensen of Chicago over the week end. Miss Jensen was a student at the college last year.

Among the guests visiting at the college are Erma Mason, Sullivan, Ind., Helen Byland, Chicago, Ruth Webb, Chicago, Ethyl Keller, Sadorus, Josephine Rink, Bushnell, Dorothy Dean and Harriet Munson, Astoria, Imogene Lamence, St. Louis, Mo., Mary Mallinson, Sugar Creek, Mo., Maude McDaniell, Oakland, Ruth Armstrong, Greenfield, Mrs. Howard B. Harper, Evansville, Indiana, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Gotman and son of Evansville, Indiana, June Price, Brockton, Hazel Jurgens, Champaign, Mrs. E. B. Webster, Harrisburg, Gladys Laughlin, Winchester, Margaret Merker, Lincoln, Florence Weber, San Jose.

The annual Thanksgiving Phi Nu banquet will be held Saturday evening at the Colonial Inn. About twenty-five old members of the society are here to attend the banquet.

Miss Dorothy Bros and Margaret Kessler are spending the week end with friends in Chicago.

NEW USE IS FOUND FOR WAR HELMETS

Springfield.—The Iron helmet, useful during the war for stopping flying bits of shell, is becoming quite popular in the coal mines of Illinois where it is used to protect the wearer against falling pieces of coal and slate.

Accidents of this kind cost the lives of 72 miners in the state last year and caused 1,088 non-fatal injuries, according to the report of the bureau of Mines and Minerals. Many of these accidents could have been avoided or made less dangerous, miners say, if the victims had been equipped with metal hats. The iron hats would protect the wearer against heavy falls of rock, but of course, it is pointed out, it would be ineffective against large caves from the sides or roof of the drifts.

Think of the enjoyments it will bring to you and your family. Just a few are:

More and better light for every room in the house;

All those electric labor savers which do away with housekeeping drudgery;

The handiness of "convenience outlets."

Impossible to combine the Christmas funds for a better purpose.

JACKSONVILLE, ILLINOIS,

SUNDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 2, 1923

Michigan Will Play Fighting Illini in '24

CHICAGO, Dec. 1. (A.P.)—Heavy schedules of Michigan, Chicago and Ohio State and a clash between the joint Big Ten football champions of 1923—Michigan and Illinois—were announced by Western Conference athletic directors at the close of the schedule meeting here tonight.

Only one outstanding inter-sectional game was announced, a tentative agreement for Illinois to meet the Navy eleven at Annapolis on October 11, the Saturday before the battle between the two leaders of 1923.

Michigan agreed to play in the new Illinois Stadium both in 1924 and 1925. The two teams in 1924 will be almost the same as the 1923 joint champions, except that Michigan will lose Captain Kipke and Illinois will lose McMillen by graduation.

Six conference games are on the program for Michigan, Ohio, Chicago, while Minnesota and Wisconsin were able to announce but three conference games each. Illinois, who dropped the games with Wisconsin and Northwestern were unable to reach an agreement with Minnesota on a late season date.

Two dedication games are on the 1924 program, Illinois will stage ceremonies for its $2,000,000 memorial amphitheatre when Michigan plays at Champaign, October 18, when the stadium will be completed.

Minnesota will entertain Michigan in the annual battle over "The Little Brown Jug" on Nov. 1, when the new stands at Minnesota will be completed.

Northwestern, Indiana, Purdue, Iowa and Illinois arranged but four conference games each.

Coach Knute Rockne of Notre Dame, though he did not succeed in concluding any agreements with Big Ten conference teams announced a notable inter-sectional program for 1924, playing the Army and Princeton in the east, Georgia Tech from the south and Nebraska from the west with but one open Saturday for recuperation.

Notre Dame registered victories over all of them but Nebraska in the 1923 season and hopes to avenge that defeat at Notre Dame November 15, with two weeks of rest to avoid the overtraining.

which appeared to have contributed to the Notre Dame defeat this fall at Nebraska.

E. C. Gerber, Wisconsin's star tackle who was declared ineligible just before the Illinois and Chicago games because he had taught boys' swimming classes, was reinstated by the faculty representatives.

Having completed baseball plans this afternoon and football arrangements this evening, the coaches assembled tonight to arrange basketball and track dates.

The faculty representatives held a long closed conference on rules this evening, but only the Gerber decision was announced as having been settled.

The faculty committee announced that the date for the Big Ten outdoor track meet, which it was decided to hold at Stagg Field, University of Chicago, would be referred to a committee because of a conflict over dates.

The conference swimming championships were awarded to the University of Chicago to be held March 13 and 14.

The indoor conference track meet was awarded to Northwestern to be held March 14 and 15.

The conference tennis championships were awarded to Chicago, May 22-25.

ENDURANCE HANDICAP FEATURES CLOSING DAY

BOWIE, Md., Dec. 1.—The running of the Endurance Handicap for two year olds closing day feature race at this track, proved an upset when the Green Tree Stable's Tree Top won with her stable mate Rink Second.

J. W. Bean's Donaghee was third. The race was run over an extremely heavy track in 1:45 4-5 for the mile.

The Rancocas colts Brawdale and Tester, odds on favorites failed to get in the money.

FRESHIES HAND SOPHS JOLT IN GRID FIGHT

Shields Intercepted a Forward Pass and Raced 40 Yards For the Lone Touchdown—Teams Were Evenly Matched.

In their annual grid clash on Illinois field yesterday afternoon the Freshies made the Sophs swallow the bitter end of a 7 to 0 score. The tilt was a game with a vengeance, with the Sophs trying to repeat their victory of last year when, as Freshmen, they walloped the then Sophomores, but the Freshmen must have seen them coming for after a neck and neck penalties several times, principally for off-side misdeeds, in the last session Shields, playing at full for the boys who wear the green caps, intercepted a pass and got away to the goal for a 46 yard run, and after making his touchdown he was not yet satisfied but had to take it out of the Sophs by adding the extra point by using his toe properly.

Aside from the long sweep made by Shields, the gains of either team were very meagre. Phillips getting 9 yards around end once, and the other gains generally going for less than 5 yards in any down. But for the chance offered Shields the teams were so evenly matched they might have been playing yet before either team were able to score.

Summary and lineup: Sophs. (0) Pos. Freshies (7)

Oct. 4.—Lombard at Notre Dame.

VANDERBILT U AWARDED PRIZE

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 1.—Vanderbilt University was today selected as the winner of the Champ Pickens trophy, a prize given the southern intercollegiate conference eleven judged by the leading sports writers of the south.

Twelve out of 14 writers voted for Vanderbilt.

One editor supported Washington and Lee while another named Virginia Military Institute, and named Washington and Lee as second choice, while two men named Florida as second place team.

CEDAR RAPIDS HIGH TO MEET TOLEDO

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa, Dec. 1.—After a conference here today between Coach Leo Novak and high school authorities it was decided that the Washington High school team would accept the challenge of Scott High of Toledo, Ohio, for a post-season game on the Ohio gridiron for the prep school title of the country. The game will be played next Saturday.

Everett Buckingham, president of the Omaha stockyards, although not a college man himself, has missed but three games in which the Nebraska Cornhuskers have played in 16 years. He pays railroad fare and gives all employees a half day off to attend games.

Beating Grid Experts To All-Star Eleven

At this time of the year it is customary for the football experts to make their all-star selections. We have decided to beat them to it.

We are presenting for the approval of the gridiron enthusiasts an All-Industrial team. In many ways it is far more valuable than any All-America eleven that might be selected.

There would be no need of a training table for this All-Industrial team. On it we have a Butcher, a Miller and a Baker to supply the food, a Cook to prepare it and a Butler to serve it.

In order to relieve the thirst we have a Brewer to concoct the drinks, a Cooper to supply the tools to contain the brew and a Wheeler to take it to a hiding place to be built by a Mason, a Slater and a Workman.

In order that our team would be properly uniformed we have selected a Cutter to model the clothes and a Taylor to finish them off. Proper footwear would be supplied by a Shoemaker. Some team, we say.

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—Lane Technical High school today won the Chicago High school football championship when it defeated Tilden, 6 to 3.

The winning touchdown came in the final period shortly after Tilden had scored a field goal.

SOME TOUGH JOB

Picking an All-America eleven this year is going to be one tough job for every football expert who essays the task. Each section of the country has any number of stars considered the best in the game and the critic who leaves them off is going to come in for a world of enemies.

The Nut Cracker

George Sisler is going to visit Hollywood. . . . He'll see something out there that will open his eyes.

Judge Landis celebrated his fifty-seventh birthday in perfect health, much to the disgust of certain baseball magnates.

Jack Dempsey has bought a hospital and will use left hooks instead of ether to put his customers to sleep.

Mr. Dempsey ought to be a great surgeon considering the success he has in cutting purses with promoters.

Great Britain has a new heavyweight champion and it is said he is almost good enough to whip Pancho Villa.

Joe Dugan's knee has jumped out of place. . . . Nothing is so disgusting as a knee which refuses to know its place.

It may yet develop that it was Doc Cook rather than Mr. Atell who fixed the 1919 world series.

The ugliest woman in the world gets $10,000 a year to sit in a circus sideshow. . . . She's sitting pretty, we'd say.

St. Louis footballers who blame defeat on rubber pants worn by opposing team are probably stretching the alibi a bit far.

Firpo says he wouldn't offend Americans for anything. This is typical of our alien visitors. They even want something for offending us.

The report that Charles Ebbels intends to buy Hornsby leaves us wondering whether he is jesting or delirious.

The iron fist has its merits but not when backed by an iron head, as the governor of Oklahoma has learned.

CUBS MAY SIGN KID GLEASON TO VIE WITH CHANCE

CHICAGO, Dec. 1. (AP)—Unquestionable a bid for popular favor along sentimental lines. Chance, former manager of the Chicago Cubs in days when he was winning pennants and world series, was the idol of Chicago fans. He still has a big following.

The White Sox, under Kid Gleason, finished in seventh place last season. The showing of the team was a distinct disappointment. Prestige waned because the Cubs had a big year.

Only the defeat of the Cubs in the city series enabled the Sox to keep their heads above water. Kid Gleason resigned at the close of the series. It is said Kid beat the club to the punch, that Owner Comiskey had intended to release him. The paking of Gleason didn't make a bit with South Side fans with whom he was very popular.

The latest rumor is that Gleason is to manage the Chicago Cubs. It is said the National League intends making such a move to counteract any prestige that might come the Sox's way because of the signing of Chance.

It would be an unusual situation to have Chance at the head of the Sox and Gleason leading the Cubs.

COSTLY FUMBLES LOST MANY GAMES

Follow the ball. Be on the alert.

The break in many an important football game is created by alertness in keeping the old eagle eye on the pigskin.

Ranking next to the defeat of Notre Dame by Nebraska was the victory of Colgate over Syracuse. Beaten by Cornell, 34 to 7, and tied by Ohio State the Colgate game was figured as easy picking for the great Syracuse team.

Following the ball won the game for Colgate. Syracuse made four fumbles, Colgate recovered 'em all on each occasion. Four Syracuse passes were intercepted by Colgate.

Syracuse fumbles made the breaks of the game and Colgate took advantage of every slip. Likewise the intercepting of passes invariably came at a time when Syracuse seemed on the way to a score.

PROMISING RECRUITS

Even though Carl Mays is about through, Bob Shawkey slipping and Joe Bush past the peak of his game, Miller Huggins of the Yankees is not worrying about pitching. In Pipiras and Roetter he has two of the most promising rookie right handers in the country. Another year's experience and both will be about ready to step in and deliver.

Gerber is Re-Instated by Big Ten Directors

CHICAGO, Dec. 1. (A.P.)—Reinstatement of E. C. Gerber, Wisconsin's star tackle who was ruled out of the last two games of 1923 on charges of professionalism was voted tonight by the faculty representatives of the Western Conference.

The faculty committee decided that while the charges at the time were sufficient and technically correct, Gerber had been punished enough for infraction of the rules.

Gerber, it was discovered in mid-season, had taught swimming to boys at Lacrosse, Wis., prior to entering Wisconsin to finish his studies. The committee held that investigation showed that his duties were not those of a physical director. Gerber has one more year of conference football. The resolution to re-instate him was ordered by Dean Albion W. Small of the University of Chicago.

Athletic officials of Illinois, who were next to face Wisconsin, were quick to deny any part in bringing the charges against Gerber and it was stated at the time that the charges did not come from any member of the Western conference.

In the usual routine they were forwarded to Wisconsin athletic authorities who ruled out Gerber.

Another problem debated by the faculty committee related to the Wisconsin-Michigan game when Referee Walter Eckersa upheld a decision of Colonel Morton Mumma, the umpire allowing the Michigan touchdown. Quarterback Rockwell of Michigan, running back a punt, was tackled and thrown in mid-field but not in the grasp of an opponent, scrambled to his feet and ran for a touchdown.

One action of the faculty committee was a ruling to add one member to the committee on football officials and give this committee entire charge over the selection of officials for conference games. It was voted to raise the compensation of officials from $50 to $75 a game. Basketball officials were raised from $30 to $35 a game.

The faculty committee voted to accept a recommendation that Major John L. Griffith, conference commissioner of athletics be continued in office for another term of two years.

MICHIGAN LOSES TWO STARS FROM BIG TEN CHAMPS

Kipke and Muirhead Will be Greatly Missed
by Coaches

BY BILLY EVANS

In Halfback Kipke and Tackle Muirhead, Michigan loses two of its greatest football stars. This pair played their last "Big Ten" game in the clash with Minnesota, which Michigan won, 19 to 0.

The work of these two great players featured their final appearance. Muirhead, who has played brilliantly at tackle all year, finished in the proverbial blaze of glory. He was all over the field in the Minnesota game, making 23 tackles, and often was down under punts ahead of the Michigan ends.

Despite the aggressiveness that has always characterized Muirhead's play, a fighter who played hard but clean, he has played every second of every conference game during the past three years. He has played in only one losing game, his first wearing the Michigan colors.

Muirhead has proved that he is a great tackle and his work merits the highest recognition of the experts in considering their all-star teams.

The name of Kipke will go down in the football records as one of the greatest punters the west has ever produced. His ability to boot the ball great distances has often kept Michigan from impending disaster.

Perhaps the most remarkable thing about Kipke's punting is his uncanny ability to drive the ball out of bounds after it has spent itself, making it impossible for the opposition to return his punts.

Michigan statistics show that Kipke's punts have averaged 45 yards and that 85 per cent of them have been placed out of bounds, a most remarkable season's performance.

EHMKE FOR SHOCKER IS LATE TRADE GOSSIP

BOSTON. (By NEA Service)

A deal between the Boston Red Sox and the St. Louis Browns, involving Pitcher Howard Ehmke and Urban Shocker, is a possibility at the coming American league meeting in Chicago. It is understood that such a transaction has already received serious consideration by both clubs.

Shocker, who was suspended by the St. Louis club near the close of the season, because he insisted on taking his wife on the last eastern trip after the club had said no, insists that he will never play another game with the Browns. Shocker is of the determined type, just the style that would go thru with the threat.

Shocker, when dissatisfied, is of no value. That is his frame of mind at present. He has expressed a desire to play under his former manager, Lee Fohl, at Boston.

Fohl, who knows the great value of Shocker as a pitcher, is more than anxious to get him. Under Fohl, Shocker did his best work. It is said that the St. Louis club would be willing to part with Shocker if it could have Howard Ehmke in return.

Ehmke, by his great work with Boston last year, is a popular favorite with the fans. To tempt fate and trade him for another pitcher who might not deliver, however, the trade is more than a mere possibility.

PLAN BIG SIX IN EAST TO RIVAL WEST'S BIG TEN

Boston—An eastern "Big Six" patterned along the lines of the "Big Ten" in the west, has been suggested and is receiving consideration. It is argued that the "Big Three" consisting of Yale, Harvard and Princeton, ought to pass up their smaller opponents and meet some of the more formidable eastern eleven. It is suggested that Cornell, Dartmouth and Pennsylvania make up the other half of the proposed "Big Six."

FRIBERG A SAND LOT GRADUATE, BECOMES STAR WITH CHICAGO

NEW YORK. (A P.)—If there ever was a real simon-pure semi-pro who went straight from the sand lots to the major league, Barney Friberg of the Chicago Cubs, is the one. Great third basemen come few and far between, and since this remarkable recruit bids fair to become one of these, his record is worth considering.

Friberg played center field for the semi-pro team of Lynn, Mass., for five years. Fred Mitchell, then manager of the Chicago Cubs, took Friberg to Chicago in 1920. Needing an outfielder badly, Mitchell used this semi-pro boy the rest of the season. He did not set the outfield grass on fire, nor did he harass or discourage National League pitchers to any notable extent.

The Cubs sent Friberg to Kansas City in 1921 to play under Otto Knebe. "I figured it was a failure," said Friberg, "when they sent me to the minors, and I was discouraged and downhearted to a point where I was just about a total loss. But it turned out to be just the thing for me. Knebe cheered me up, and I began to play the game. It helped me more than I can tell, that season under Knebe."

But, according to Bill Killifer, who succeeded Mitchell as the Cubs' leader, "It made him."

Killifer was not so clear, however, when pressed to tell how he made this ordinary outfielder into a great third baseman. "I don't know," said Killifer. "He had the action of an infielder, we needed one so badly that I was desperate, and I just planted him there. A hunch often works out as well or better than a carefully figured out plan."

Friberg himself was just as unsatisfactory in his explanation of his third basing talent.

"I was always fiddling around second base after I joined the Cubs," he said. "I just liked infield play. When I first took hold of the hot corner it was strange and worried me. Seemed like I had to work every second. I know I worked there in practice until I was worn out, day after day. Now though, it seems natural and regular. No worry at all."

His record last season was remarkable. He batted about .320, hammered out a dozen home runs and stole a dozen bases.

Friberg lives in Swampscott, Mass.

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE TO OPEN CONVENTION

of the major problems to be considered at the annual convention of the Illinois Anti-Saloon League, in its annual convention in Chicago, December 7-8, will be the protection of the Illinois prohibition act and the nomination of an attorney general favorable to strict law enforcement, according to an announcement from the Springfield offices of the league. An attempt will be made to nominate a dry candidate for every contested seat in the legislature.

TOUGH JOB FOR SISLER

One of the first statements credited to Manager George Sisler of the Browns was his intention to start an intensive educational campaign with the players the moment they reported in the spring. A knowledge of the rules and inside baseball were to be considered. Sisler may find that a tougher job than landing the Browns in the first division.

ROCKNE DISCUSSES NEBRASKA GAME

Famous Notre Dame Coach Explains Biggest Upset of Year in Football—Players Dropped Seven Forward Passes

BY BILLY EVANS

"Hello 'Rock'."
"Glad to see you Bill."
Merely greetings preliminary to interview.

"Tough to lose that game to Nebraska?" was my opening wedge.

"Yes, it was, but then you can't win them all and the fates ordained that we should lose that one."

"Overconfidence, I suppose."
"Tell the world for me that was not the reason. That is one trait I never let creep into teams that I coach."

"Tell me about it."

"Well, there is considerable to tell. In the first place we were beaten by a real football team. It apparently had been pointed for the Notre Dame game. My team, on the other hand, had played five hard games on successive Saturdays and despite every effort on my part as well as the trainer, the club let down a bit, was a stage things might have been different. Dropping passes is usual on the Notre Dame team after a player gets the ball into his hands. Notre Dame dropped seven such passes in the last two periods of the Nebraska game. One of them was dropped after the player had stepped over the goal line.

"The Nebraska defeat was just one of those upsets that happen every now and then in the sport world. However, I desire to offer no alibi, because the biggest factor in our defeat was the real ability displayed by the Nebraska team under the conditions that existed."

"Next year is another year."
Rockne's way of saying that the boys would keep Nebraska in mind in 1924.

GEORGIA TECH HAD A TOUGH SEASON

Georgia Tech has had a tough season. The "Golden Tornado" was nothing more than a mild breeze this fall. Once rated as one of the most feared football aggregations in the country, the Atlanta platoon dropped out of the elite circle in the campaign just closed.

Beaten by Notre Dame and Penn State, the southerners were also forced to accept the verdict with Florida, Alabama and Kentucky.

A few years back, 1918 to be exact, Georgia Tech had one of the most talked about teams in the country. Late in the season a defeat by Pittsburgh, 32 to 0, robbed the Tech team of much of its early season glory.

While Georgia Tech has invariably run into woe in its northern games, it has usually been supreme in the south. Three tie games against southern teams this season don't make Tech's showing very impressive.

PLEDGES SUGGESTED TO LESSEN ACCIDENTS

Lawrence, Kans. (A. P.)—Reducing automobile accidents by means of applied psychology is the plan of Dr. William A. McKeever, editor of numerous juvenile and psychology publications and former University of Kansas professor in charge of child welfare and "better city" projects.

Dr. McKeever has prepared what he calls "A Universal Auto Creed," consisting of a pledge for the driver, the pedestrian and the motor guest, which he is to offer to automobile associations, schools, safety leagues and all others concerned in the problem of safe motor car driving.

The pledges for the driver are:

I will think ahead; I will drive carefully; I will avoid speeding; I will observe signals; I will manage my auto; I will slacken speed; I will respect pedestrians; I will assist at accidents; I will assume responsibility.

The pledges for the pedestrian consist of these:

Books and Authors

Those who do not enjoy a reading diet of sex, psychology and the love triangle have a difficult time choosing their fiction these days. There seems to be an attempt to dissect and diagnose human emotions, with the idea of leading the reader to think these writers know more of the inner workings of human feelings than anyone else. Many authors are losing the art of portraying character after the manner of Dickens, Scott and Shakespeare and have set themselves to produce psychological monstrosities or more emotional exhibits.

Peter B. Kyne has added another book to this sort of literature in his "These Train Shall Never Meet Again." It is a story of triangular love, the suffering of a deserted wife and the South sea islands.

An American girl makes a journey of several thousand miles to bring back her sweetheart, who has grown dissatisfied with his South Sea bride. It is difficult to imagine an American girl of a generation ago doing this sort of thing; but the modern girl might try it, if only for the sake of a fascinating sea voyage.

Between the sordid realists in fiction and the writers of unnatural and novel sex trash, the reader who wants wholesome fiction must exercise care in selecting his library. As far as we are concerned, the constant dwelling on the mechanics of emotions, to which so many authors are prone makes dreary reading. Young people who read the stuff now coming from the publishers are exposed to much more subtle dangers than the husky lads who used to read Nick Carter and his fellow yellowbacks.

Someone has described an American novel as a story about two people who want each other in the first chapter, continue to want each other thru all the succeeding pages, get each other in the last chapter, and continue happy in each other's society. That definition used to be fairly accurate, but now there is usually introduced in the novel some element that makes the people not want each other, and even after marriage one or the other may want somebody else, and exhibit the feeling with perfect propriety. If writers comprehend how much damage they may be doing the American social fabric by such books, they would be willing to write more wholesome stories even tho with less financial profit to themselves.

Theodore Roosevelt, by Lord Charnwood.

(The Atlantic Monthly Press.) The authorship of this book stamps it as unusual. It is a novel American, written by a cultivated Englishman. Lord Charnwood, whose real name is Godfrey Kathbone Bennett, has made two visits to the United States, the first in 1887, and the last in 1918. Judging from his familiarity with American affairs which he shows in the present work, he is a close student of our country and its political life. His work on Abraham Lincoln has been widely read and the biography of Roosevelt is attracting wide attention.

Aside from what fellow citizens of Roosevelt may think of him and his career, they are forced to admire the man whom Lord Charnwood portrays. The author is at some disadvantage because he never met or knew personally the man whose life he describes; and yet, there may be an advantage in that he is able to form a judgment of Roosevelt's acts and character uninfluenced by personal contact with him.

The author has chosen from Roosevelt's life those incidents which mark him as a fighter for righteousness. Practically the only faults he sees in the former president and progressive leader lie in his desire for power and his long period in the limelight. Yet this power was used in the main to further the cause of the people against the political corruption which is all too prevalent in American government. No one realized more fully than Roosevelt himself the weariness which his constant public life caused to the people, when he said toward the close of his career, "The people are heartily tired of me and of my ideas." However, the last part of that statement is not quite true; for, even the people tired of the man, the ideas which he never ceased to advocate, are maxims of progress in the mouths of the American voters.

From the time when Roosevelt, during his campaign for the New York legislature, boldly told a saloon keeper that he would seek to make his license higher, until the day when, proudly sorrowing for his son, Quentin, he wrote his best editorial on unselfish service, Roosevelt always stood on the side of clean living, righteousness in government, and high ideals and purposes. Also there may be some acts of his presidency which are difficult to justify, the author has endeavored to look deeper than the mere facts in the case and find the causes and effects of these actions.

A number of things are brought to light in this work which show the deep study the author has given his theme, and also may come as surprises to Americans. His part in the Algeiras Conference of 1906, where the Morocco question was settled between France and Germany, was in a large measure responsible for staving off the Great World War, which was then brewing in Europe. Mainly thru Roosevelt's efforts, the war was prevented, at least for eight years.

In a mild way, Lord Charnwood has expressed disapproval of the Monroe Doctrine, and in a more pronounced manner he disapproves of Woodrow Wilson and his policies. His summary of Wilson's character is rather startling when he says:

"In my eyes, his singular and powerful figure appears an evil figure, which it may be right to pity, but cannot be right to admire."

At the conclusion of the biography is a personal letter written by Roosevelt to Lady Delamere, whose acquaintance he made in East Africa. The letter has an unique and interesting history, and has never before been published. The autobiographical material it contains throws much light on Roosevelt's life during the four months after his return from Africa. The front of the book contains a helpful chronology of Roosevelt's life, with numerous illuminating quotations from his writings.

Lord Charnwood's book might be criticised on account of style which at times becomes rather involved. He dwells little on the actual facts of Roosevelt's life, but rather seeks to interpret them in terms of his character and personality. He has not taken the attitude of British superiority, but has sought in a sincere manner to write the biography of a great American. Although it appears at times that he inclines toward hero worship, the reader can see no reason why he should do so, as his position would make him an impartial judge of his subject and he could have no self interest in over-idealizing any American about whom he chose to write.

The Burning Spear, by John Galsworthy.

(Charles Scribner's Sons.) The latest work of this well known English author is a satire on the public civilian life of England during the war. It is significant that this book was first published at the close of the war and was coldly received by the English people, who had not yet quite recovered from the spell of the war orators. It has been published now in the hope that, with their calmness restored, people may read it and laugh.

However, those who laugh at John Lavender, the ludicrous hero of Galsworthy's "Burning Spear," may at the same time feel a tinge of shame when they consider how far many an other, even in making a fool of himself during the war, John Lavender, who has been leading a quiet and studious life, decides to become a public speaker for the country. He is fed up on the inflammatory writings of war journalists and the speeches of war enthusiasts. With his more practical and less enthused chauffeur, Joe Petty, he has a number of amusing adventures as a speaker, which form the gist of the story.

Lavender's experiences with the young war nurse, Miss Isabel Scarlett, give the story a romantic touch, and the more or less natural, they are decidedly amusing. His frequent unintentional contacts with John Barleycorn lead the reader to excuse his rash acts and find a reason for his flights of vivid imagination.

It is evident that Galsworthy meant to portray in Lavender what effects the war had on the quiet English citizen. The feeling of shame which must come to a reader who passed thru those experiences is akin to that which might come to him who awakes on the morning after a night of dissipation. John Lavender becomes an object of pity when, after a humiliating experience with the public and the police, he decides that he has a double self, and the side of him which puts him at his worst, is in command.

What the war did for Galsworthy's hero, it did for thousands in all nations engaged in it. War itself is a form of national and international insanity, and it is not surprising that it drives even quiet and unassuming people to do unnatural and ludicrous things.

At various points in the book

there are flashes of the rebellion against war and its consequences which those who kept their heads could not help showing. Although we cannot admire Joe Petty as a man, we may all agree with his attitude when he desired to be let alone. He knew well enough that when the so-called public men got more enthusiastic than usual, it was time for the masses to say, "Gawd 'elp us, for we're going to need it." Galsworthy has told more than half a truth when he says that if the oratory were taken from war, there would be little left.

It is our opinion that Galsworthy published his war satire at an opportune time, the minds of the people, embittered by the disappointments following in the wake of the war, are in a receptive mood for such literature. If it does nothing more than make men ashamed of war and its unnatural deeds, it has accomplished its purpose. The book, however, should not be considered a permanent acquisition to literature; for it is only one of the numerous "books of the hour," of which Ruskin has spoken.

RED HEADS CREDITED WITH MANY VIRTUES

BERKELEY, Cal. (A. P.)—Red-haired persons make the best explorers and conquerors, contends Herbert E. Bolton, professor of American history at the University of California. He credits them with great initiative and persevering ambition.

The professor cites in support of his theory Columbus, Pedro de Alvarado, the most noted of Cortes, assistants, and O'Conner, prominent in the expansion of the American southwest, all were graced with red hair.

Professor Bolton recalls that recently a tribe of cannibals in the South Sea Islands killed all but one of a group of explorers. The one man spared had red hair, which the primitive mind took for a symbol of extraordinary power. The savages, moved by some tribal taboo, feared him.

The reader is reminded also that a short time ago a San Francisco firm advertised for red-haired salesmen only.

CIVIC IDEALS

(To Professor Holden)

Mere beauty is a thing we lightly prize,
Till prophets come and tell us so in words,
We hardly know that we have trees and birds,
Neglectful so to train our hearts and eyes.

For trade or charity, we congregate;
For beauty's sake, each one to solitude;
As class, or city, need we be so rude?
Why not unite for interest in the state?

O for the men to think in terms of soul,
Not wealth, or politics. Let others live
In easeful joy of blessings life may give,
And us devote ourselves to serve the whole.

Self-preservation rules us yet, you say?
Where have they gone, whom once a vision led?
Left they no legates? Are they really dead?
'Tis rather greed that has its merry way.

Beware of pricking want and misery;
Whilst some upon the backs of others ride,
Can you expect of all an equal pride
In civic welfare and prosperity?

With weakened joints a city can not thrive.
"A home for every family!"—let that be,
City of Elms, in all sincerity,
The end you first endeavor to contrive.

Good-will, not charity—make that a plan;
Put on your standard, "Opportunity!"
From charge of venal motives wholly free,
City of Elms, till man stand next to man.

—JOHN KEARNS.

THE REFEREE

By Albert Apple

$500,000

H. G. Wells has made over $500,000 in royalties from his "Outline History," according to gossip among book publishers.

In other words, he's paid half a million for having imagination enough to sense that history, supposedly a dry subject, could be popularized. No living writer could make as much from the sale of a work of fiction in book form alone.

Plenty of opportunities. The problem is to recognize them when they are right under our noses.

Moods.

You've read a lot about the power of the mind over the body. Don't forget the power of the body over the mind.

Chester W. Darrow, psychologist at University of Chicago, after thousands of experiments, decides that emotional thought is affected by bodily attitudes, also by bodily postures. For instance, a person with a defiant, suspicious attitude is most apt to think defiant and suspicious thoughts. And pleasant thoughts come more readily when standing erect with chest out than when lounging in a slouching fashion.

Humor.

The funniest letter ever received at the White House was addressed to President Grover Cleveland, writes Professor Robert McElroy of Princeton. The letter: "Dear sir—I am a young man with I would like to better my self

The business I am at is Junk business, but I would rather have the business in the government, either in the Cabinet or as watchman."

Not many like this letter writer get into public office. But plenty of them help decide the elections. However, ignorant democracy is preferable to the most intelligent monarchy, according to American philosophy.

Replacing.

The railroads will have to spend 7870 million dollars for repairs and new equipment in the next 10 years. This is estimated by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The future jobs of hundreds of thousands of Americans are assured by those figures.

The rapidity with which everything wears out and has to be renewed annoys all of us. But it's the greatest generation of prosperity.

Ahead.

American railroads now handle freight equivalent to hauling 420 billion tons one mile each year.

Traffic experts say that this figure will increase to 560 million tons by 1933.

You can't bet too much on this country's future—in any line. The business high-water mark of today is low-water tomorrow.

Congestion.

Number of autos in our country increasing a fourth each year, says Raymond Beck, traffic expert. He warns that we're headed for a babel of traffic congestion unless we begin planning our cities far ahead into the future, especially for wider streets.

Is it really possible, though to see ahead 10 years in this matter? How long until the airplane will become the chief vehicle? Probability is we'll need all the motor cars we can get, and just as many airplanes.

Phoenix, Ariz. (A. P.)—Earle Sande, who rode Zev to victory against Papyrus, the pride of England, first appeared at a race track eight years ago when at the state fair here he asked for a chance to ride. Finally they gave it to him, and mounted the slim, freckle-faced boy on a horse with a reputation of pulling up at the end of a race with its rider missing.

"Sandy" let loose pandemonium in the stands by thundering across the white line several lengths ahead of them all.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—Active operations for the advance aided by shortage covering, turned stock prices up briskly in today's brief session of the market.

Commodity prices also rallied in the half holiday trading.

American Can again was pace maker inside buying pushing it up nearly two points to 105, a new high for the movement.

The strength, however, was general, covering in addition industrial leaders a wide assortment of shares in the oils, tobaccos, textiles, equipments, steels and specialties.

Several factors contributed to today's evident feeling of optimism and influenced traders with short accounts to cover hastily.

Overnight news from abroad was more cheerful.

Buying of the equipments proceeded on a large scale, Baldwin moving up 2 1/2 points and Pullman advancing two points.

Motors and motor accessories also were bought readily; Studebaker receding 1 1/2 points gain while Stewart Warner gained a similar amount.

United States government bonds closed practically unchanged from yesterday.

Total bond sales par value $5-307,000.

ARIZONA PROMISES MUCH IN FRUIT LINE

Indications Are That State Will Rank High in Raising of Fruits—S. W. Nichols Writes Another Letter from Tucson

S. W. Nichols has again written to Journal readers from Tucson, Ariz. Mr. Nichols gives some interesting facts about the fruit prospects in Arizona, which bids fair to become a great fruit state. The letter is given below:

540 South Stone Ave., Tucson, Ariz.

Dear Journal:

As I sit in the bright sunshine writing I don't wonder that Arizona people are proud of their climate. They haven't a great deal else to give them satisfaction but that is a great deal.

Here, as in all mountainous parts, one can get any temperature he wants by going far enough. While we sweat in the sunshine we can see patches of snow on the adjacent mountain ranges while on Mount Lemmon the "beautiful" is ten inches deep.

Cotton growers in this region are feeling complacent over the absence of the boll weevil which makes such havoc with the crop in other states. Hope they will not have it for cotton is bringing a good price now.

The 33rd degree in Masonry was conferred on three candidates in the Scottish Rite temple here last night. Many eminent Masons were present and it was surely a great occasion. A banquet followed and went well. I thought of Dr. Miller and Julius Strawn but it was rather too far away for them to attend.

The University Players are giving a series of plays and the young people are surely well up in the work and receive the highest praise from all who attend. It makes me a bit homesick and I wish I could see some of the good work of our home talent.

The Young Women's Christian association of this city is doing a splendid work in the way of the transient home which is open to all women who need temporary shelter and rest. Many tourists and others needing a transient home and kindly care are taken in and given the best to be had.

Arizona senators are undertaking an ambitious project, no less than that of having President Coolidge come down here or to the border and ceremoniously shake hands with President Obregon of Mexico whenever the treaty between the two countries as arranged by the envoys shall have been approved by congress. It would surely be a spectacular sight and doubtless our president would think favorably of it but for the time it would be sensibly declined an invitation to be a speaker at an important function in New York kindly remarking to the committee of invitation that he felt he could serve the country better by staying in Washington and attending to his duties rather than by taking a day to prepare an address and another to deliver it. His worthy predecessor is a startling example of overwork.

Harry Lauder, the noted Scotch entertainer, has been here and appeared to a large house. He was a guest of the Tucson Rotary club and in an address said that three great things in life are work, home and a kindly neighbor over the garden wall. He spoke pathetically of his dear son whose life was ended by a cruel German sniper cowardly hiding in a tree.

Deposits made in our Savings Department the first Ten Days of December will draw interest from the First of the month.

The fruit exhibit of the state fair placed in the basement of the state university agricultural building and I had the pleasure of a visit to it and was indeed surprised at the quality and variety of the display.

Of course it must be remembered that the state is new and the fruit is raised on limited areas. The vicinity of Phoenix has been immensely benefited by the construction of the Roosevelt dam which supplies irrigation for a large area of territory and from that part came much of the display. They had Japanese persimmons fully two inches in diameter and appearing very tempting in quality. Peaches were well represented and there were several huge specimens of quinces. Mrs. Joy said these were all right for she had bought just a few of the mammoth affairs and had a lot of delicious jelly to show for her purchase.

Plums of all sorts were plentiful and a large variety of pecans. Almonds grow well and English walnuts are being produced somewhat successfully by grafting on the wild native variety. There were lots of grapes, plenty of citrus and some excellent potatoes but only ten were desirable. They are propagated by shoots which have been rather expensive, $25 each, but they are now overcoming that drawback. The professor said they were just getting the cultivation of the fruit in hand and hoped to make a great success with it eventually.

The trees begin to bear well at five years of age and a tree will yield from 200 to 500 pounds a year and the fruit is worth 60 cents a pound. The great attraction of the tree is the fact that it will grow in alkali soil where hardly anything else can be produced. They had a great variety of specimens of the fruit and it seemed to be good. A great advantage in their grape fruit crop is the fact that it is ready for the market in October while the California product doesn't come on till two or three months later.

A Calhoun county apple crop piled up in a heap would make Arizona look small but the state is to be commended for the energy which is being put forth for the development of the portions which will produce good crops.

Rev. Mr. Woolam, pastor of the Presbyterian church which I attended, was in the theological seminary with our Mr. Marbach and speaks highly of that gentleman.

One of the very interesting attractions of this region is the Casa Grande ruin, a once veritable Arizona sky scraper. It is involved in deep mystery and nothing is left as a guide to its history. For years scholars have wandered thru its halls and have tried to find some sort of a clue which would enable them to fathom the mystery but all in vain.

It is located three miles south of the Gila river and is supposed to have been a temple of some pre-historic race. It is built of puddled clay and yet stands four stories high though it was originally six. It is forty by sixty feet in size and contains numerous rooms. A low wall circles the structure and there are remains of other buildings in the immediate vicinity. Early in 1665 Pedro Kino and a company of Jesuit priests started in northern Mexico with the intention of civilizing and christianizing the Indians of that region.

Under the direction of that party and with Indian labor the mission of San Jose de Tumacacori was constructed and completed in about three years. The ruins of that church are located on the Tucson-Nogales road and are in a fair state of preservation. The construction of the main part of the mission of San Xavier Del Bac was started shortly after that of Tumacacori but owing to its large proportions was not completed till late in 1693. In April of the following year the young Pedro Kino was sent north to locate another possible site for a mission belonging to the chain already established and he pushed forward into a little explored and known country.

On the sixteenth day out the party was journeying westward not far from the Gila river and were marching till late into the night seeking a suitable place to camp. A water hole and a few cottonwoods were found and there the little band rested. In the morning the light of the sun revealed to the young missionary a sight of appalling proportions. In the darkness of the night they had made a camp within a mile of the great ruins and the morning sun had caused it to stand out in every detail against the blue-black of the mountains westward.

The ruins consisted of a structure originally six stories high and must have been made by pouring adobe into forms or else by constructing a mound and cutting away the surrounding clay. It is a type of architecture older than that of the cliff dwellings and its history and origin are a mystery. It is supposed to have been built by the same ones who constructed the mounds in the vicinity of St. Louis.

One evening the co-eds of the varsity staged a peculiar and attractive program. It was in the agricultural building and was a circus entirely managed by women. It consisted of a menagerie with camels, monkeys, giraffes, wild men from Borneo and a great variety of creatures known and unknown. The young women displayed much ingenuity in the creation of their attractions and had a good sized audience which was well pleased.

This city has its part in unearthing a gigantic fraud in the Texas oil fields. It is estimated that the gullible have invested a billion and a quarter in that region. Tons of fake advertising matter were confiscated; and 92 persons were indicted, forty of whom have either pleaded guilty or have been tried. The sad part of the affair is the fact that a large part of the enormous sum stolen came from poor people; widows with a small patrimony; laboring men with the savings of a lifetime and the like. It is the old, old story; something for nothing or an immense return for a small investment.

The city is alive this week with a state teachers' convention at which a thousand welders of the traditional birch are in attendance. Arizona prides herself on her school system from state university down to the humblest little red schoolhouse claiming to profit by the experience, success and mistakes of older commonwealths.

Cities vie with each other in the number of instructors they send, Bisbee taking the lead with a hundred, Douglas following with eighty and Nogales with forty. Dr. Fannie P. Dunn, director of rural education in Columbia university is a leading attraction with addresses on various subjects contribution to the success of the gathering.

I had a very pleasant auto ride with Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Joy one afternoon. We visited the ruins of Fort Lowell, a structure erected in frontier days to house troops sent to protect the pioneers from the Indians. It consisted of a series of adobe structures, barracks, officers' quarters, hospital and so on. It was long since abandoned and the roofs of the structures not being kept up the walls soon fall to decay as adobe must be kept dry to keep its place.

Sabino Canyon was another charming place. In it is a government station and it is posted as a game preserve, no hunting being allowed there. A lovely mountain stream flows through it and in the water are a few small fish though there is not enough water to sustain such life. I had a very pleasant call on Father Connolly whom I found looking well though at present he is very busy as his assistant left him not long ago and the duties of the parish are very heavy. He says Mr. and Mrs. Martin Feore are well and doing well. Mr. Walsh, Mrs. Feore's brother, and his young wife are well and happy. Mr. Henderson and sons and daughter are well. Miss May Lambert and daughter, Miss May have arrived from Phoenix where they went for a short stay and will be here for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Joy had a visit Sunday and Monday from their daughter, Mrs. Shaw of the Stronghold ranch. They went with her yesterday to the ranch where Mr. Joy expects to remain. Mrs. Joy expected to stay a few weeks and then come back here and be with her grandson who is in the university.

Accounts of snowstorms and blizzards in other parts of the land seem strange here where we have constant sunshine but we are getting the effect in unusually cold winds which make fires comfortable in the early and latter parts of the day.
